OFFICE OF STUDENT FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE (OSFA)

x7849
8th Floor of Tower
financialaid@massart.edu

In addition to student financial aid, the OSFA is in charge of managing the Federal College Work-Study program.

- Work-Study is a need-based, federally-funded program which provides part-time employment opportunities to students both on- and off-campus.
- Work-Study positions pay $11/hour and students are paid every two weeks. Work-Study earnings are not credited to your MassArt bill.
- Work-Study eligible students can earn up to $1,000/year. If a student earns their $1,000 Work-Study award, OSFA can review the student's account to determine if the student is eligible to earn additional Work-Study funds; whether or not the student can earn more than their $1,000 Work-Study award also depends on the available Work-Study budget of the department the student is working for.
- If you are unsure whether or not you are eligible for Work-Study you can ask OSFA. It is based on your FAFSA. You can email the OSFA at financialaid@massart.edu to find out.
- Students are responsible for finding their own Work-Study jobs and can do so through the utilizing the Career Development website, looking for flyers posted around campus and visiting different offices to see if they have a position available.
- Once you have a Work-Study position you will need to visit OSFA to complete a Work-Study contract. To fill this out you will need to bring with you a passport, birth certificate or Social Security card.
- You may not begin working until your contract has been completed and turned into to OSFA.
- You are not eligible to work during any scheduled class times, even if the professor cancels class or dismisses you early. You must provide your supervisor with a copy of your class schedule each semester.
